

5 WAYS

to gain the most out of your volunteering experience

Learn about your project 2

Find out what exactly your program wants to achieve and how your role contributes to this aim.

4 Aim for the next level

If you're interested, ask if there are leadership roles or training sessions available where you could develop your skills. There are ladders you can climb while volunteering.

CHALLENGE - CHANGE - CELEBRATE

1 Show commitment

The more heart you put into your volunteering work, the more gain you will get from your experience.

3 Be social

The people you meet while volunteering are from a huge variety of lifestyles. Get into conversation with someone new each time you're there. You will gain not only different views on things but probably some new friends as well.

Be open for new things

While volunteering you may get confronted by things you've never experienced or witnessed before in your life. Be open minded and don't be scared to get out of your comfort zone and try new things.
