

5 REASONS why people volunteer

Standing out! 2

Today's job market is very competitive. Volunteer work can help you stand out from your peers. It also shows that you can manage your studies and additional work effectively and have interests outside of university.

4 Gaining skills!

Through volunteering you will gain great skills for your future. For example project management, fundraising, health and safety, and problem solving! You can develop these skills and so much more during volunteer projects.

CHALLENGE - CHANGE - CELEBRATE

Having fun!

1 A lot of students across Australia volunteer not only because it's good for their CV's, but because it's loads of fun! You see and experience things you normally wouldn't and get to know people of great variety.

3 Getting out!

Tired of the library and the lecture room? Volunteering can help you with that! Volunteer and explore the local community outside of your campus' walls.

Giving back!

5 Even though volunteering helps your future career a lot, most students volunteer because they want to make a difference. Improving other people's day – what better way to spend your time. You definitely won't regret it!
